DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hietpas et al (2003/0136099).

Hietpas teaches a yarn for use in a stretchable fabric comprising 30% by weight or more of polytrimethylene terephthalate based staple fiber (Abstract; Summary of the Invention). In regards to it being a sewing thread, this is intended use. In regards to the claimed test results and properties, including breaking elongation and instantaneous elastic recovery, these are all inherent properties of the material as claimed. Since Hietpas teaches the claimed material, in the claimed structure, he also inherently teaches all inherent material properties.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hietpas.

Hietpas essentially teaches the invention as detailed above, but fails to specifically teach using as a seam thread. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to utilize the thread of Hietpas as a sewing thread, so as to provide its taught stretchability to all aspects of a fabric. The ordinarily skilled artisan would appreciate these teachings and know to do such, so as to improve the overall stretchability of the fabric.

Art Unit: 3765

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 01 February 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Hietpas does not specifically disclose its use as a sewing thread, and as such, cannot teach such a use, supporting his argument with the argument that the instantaneous elastic recovery of Hietpas exceeds the value of his invention. Examiner disagrees insomuch as the ranges of each overlap. Hietpas teaches 70-100%, Applicant requires 30-75%, creating an overlap of 70-75%. Applicant then states that additionally, Hietpas relates to a spun yarn composed of cotton, PET, and PTT, and that the only similarity between it and the present invention is the 30% PTT. Again, Examiner disagrees insomuch as Applicant's claims are open-ended and may comprise identical materials. As such, Hietpas anticipates the claims as written. In regards to the dependent claims, Applicant has elected not to specifically address them outside of the Hietpas rejection, and as such, Examiner has nothing to formally respond to.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3765
